City plans 707 unit hookups

PLEASANTON — The city plans to put 707 residential dwelling unit equivalent sewer connections into the Sunol sewage treatment plant over the next five years, assuming it will get permission to do so from the Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board.

The Times reported earlier that there will be 494 total residential units, which is true, but there also will be additional commercial, multiple and industrial connections, which will bring the total of connections to 707. They are called "residential dwelling unit equivalents" because the residential unit's average output of effluent is used as the yardstick in measuring sewer connections.

An apartment actually puts out less effluent than a residential unit, so that, for example, 20 residential unit equivalent connections can accommodate 30 apartment units.

When the 707 are added, it will bring the Sunol plant up to its capacity of 1.7 million gallons per day. City Manager Bill Edgar emphasized to the city council Monday that the city will go slowly in approaching the plant's capacity, adding them in blocks over the next five years, and doing careful monitoring after each block is added.

The connections will be distributed, as closely as possible, according to the following formula: single family, 52 percent; multiple family, 23 percent, and commercial and industrial, 25 percent.

Besides the 707 connections which the city expects to add over the next five years, there currently are 184 connections outstanding. These are approved building projects which have not hooked up yet to the Sunol sewer plant.

City pleased by affirmative action report

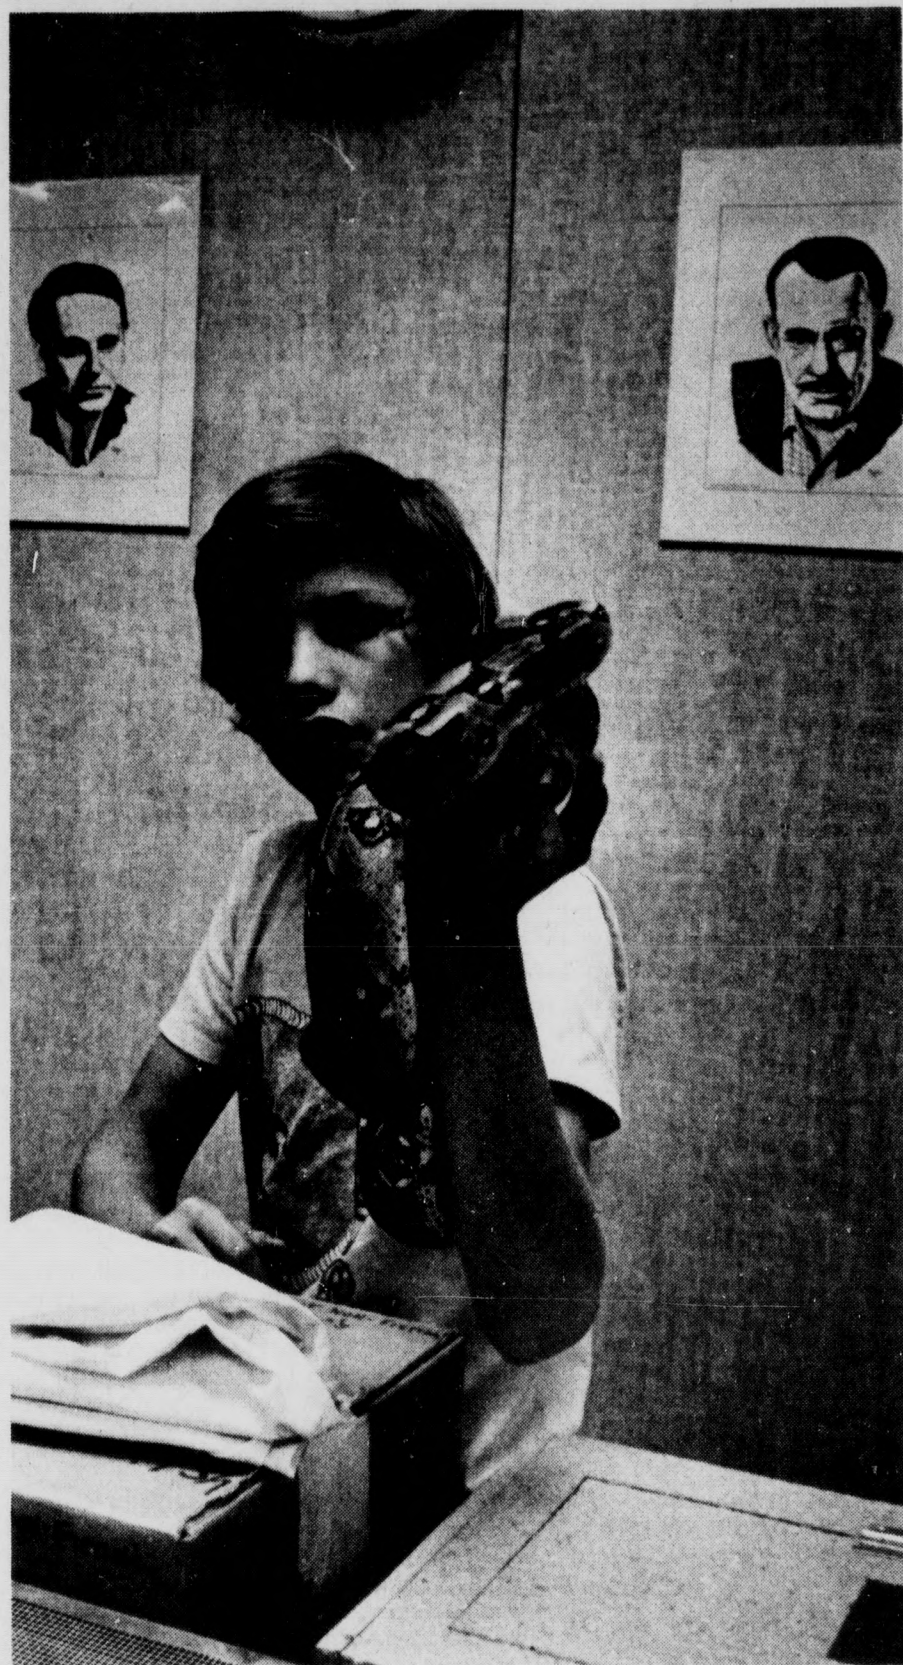

PLEASANTON — The city council was pleased with Assistant to the City Manager Larry Miller's report on the city's five year goals in affirmative action hiring Monday night.

Federal law sets down the guidelines for a city's affirmative action program and the city will be reporting its progress to the federal government annually, noted Miller, who has been designated the city's Affirmative Action Officer.

Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire said the city needs to do more in recruitment of minorities and women. Miller responded that his office has become more aware of minority contacts, including groups and newspapers where job openings can be publicized. The action program lists specific goals for numbers of minorities who will be sought and interviewed.

LeClaire said she was glad to see that the affirmative action program permits relaxation of certain job requirements when an objective review reveals they are not necessary.

The hiring goals are based on expected staff attrition and new hiring over the next five years. Both are speculative Miller told the council, especially in view of the relatively scant prospects of city expansion over the next five years.

City to review policy on holding tank pumping

PLEASANTON — The city will review the procedures for transferring holding tank effluent to its ultimate destination, because of the persistence of Councilman Frank Brandes.

Holding tank effluent is pumped out by Pleasanton Garbage Service. The tank truck is supposed to deposit the effluent in a manhole in Crow Canyon Road and that sewer is supposed to convey the effluent to Central Sanitary Services in Walnut Creek.

But there is no check on whether all of the effluent gets dumped into the manhole, Brandes told council members for the second time Monday. The first time he brought it up a few weeks ago, council members seemed satisfied with the whole checking procedures.

Monday they thought he was explaining his case more clearly and agreed that there has to be some way to check that dumping into the manhole.

City Attorney Ken Scheidig said that originally Pleasanton Garbage Service said that Central Sanitary Services would have a meter at the dumping spot, but the sewer plant officials didn't put it into effect. "If that has been abandoned, you may have to find another way to meet the condition," said Scheidig.

Councilman William Herlihy said that the point should be pursued because it is integral to the original agreement on the maintenance of holi holding tanks.

Councilwoman Joyce LeClaire said that the city should make contact with Central Sanitary about the matter.

Worth $400,000

County okays Pleasanton works, sends to MTC

Alameda County Bureau
OAKLAND — Pleasanton's request for more than $400,000 in federal money for public works projects crossed another hurdle Tuesday when county supervisors unanimously approved the city's request and forwarded it to the Metropolitan Transportation Commission (MTC) and the California Department of Transportation (CalTrans).

The board also cleared the way for $274,000 in similar grants for work in Dublin.

The MTC and CalTrans must approve the projects and forward them to the federal government. The $435,500 in "Federal-Aid Urban" funds requested by Pleasanton includes $270,000 for the I-680 pedestrian overcrossing at West Las Positas Boulevard; $124,000 for construction of an intersection and traffic signals at Valley Avenue and Santa Rita Road, and $41,500 for the installation of a traffic signal at First and Neal Streets.

The latter two cost figures are based on the city's estimates.

The unincorporated area of Dublin will receive $274,000 to widen Dublin Boulevard at Sierra Court from two lanes to four divided lanes, and to improve and install a signal at Dublin Boulevard and Dougherty Road.

The Sierra Court project will provide a four lane divided roadway between San Ramon and Dougherty Roads, while the improvements at the Dublin Boulevard intersection will create a four lane divided road from I-580 to Dublin Boulevard.

Livermore received approval for some $2.7 million in three year federal funding.

Their projects include $415,000 for construction of a Bay Area Rapid Transit parking lot on Stanley Boulevard to aid BART express bus commuters.

They also will receive nearly $573,000 to replace a two lane bridge across the Arroyo Mocho at Arroyo Road.

Livermore's list totals 10 projects.

No declared limit

Brandes fails in bid for 2 per cent growth

PLEASANTON — Councilman Frank Brandes failed in a bid to get other council members to declare a firm two percent annual growth rate Monday night.

The council already is committed to a maximum population of 48,700 in 1996, which in effect is an average annual growth rate of two percent. However, there is no declared policy of allowing only a maximum of two percent, or 200 to 250 residential units, each year.

The growth rate in the city last year was six percent with permits withdrawn for 602 new homes.

Other council members seemed attuned to the sentiments expressed by Councilman Ken Mercer, who said that the council should wait until the city staff has completed a thorough growth management study and plan, due in the spring of 1977.

Mayor Robert Philcox said that the spring of 1977 is far away, but the growth management plan and the setting of a growth rate "is a complex piece of work and we can't do it in two or three months."

Mercer said it would not be wise now to determine an inflexible two percent rate each year if it does not coincide with findings of the long-range economic analysis of city development. The council should get all the information available and make the decision which is best for the taxpayers, said Mercer.

Brandes said that people were told four years ago, when the general plan review began, that a growth rate would be set. "People are tired of waiting," said Brandes. He said he would bring it up later in the council meeting, but when the time came at 12:10 a.m., he said that the city attorney told him bringing it to a vote might conflict with pending litigation against the city, so he dropped the matter.

Philcox said that the resolution which the council passed Monday night putting a limit of 140 sewer connections a year on the Sunol sewage treatment plant was a growth control measure.

Brandes said that the Valley Community Services District sewer plant area would add many more units. Although the figures didn't come low enough to meet his preferences, Brandes said it definitely was a growth control measure and he joined the rest of the council in voting for it.

225 entries in parade

Mike Cleary will ride a horse for the first time, Great America plans to turn Bugs Bunny loose and Carter B. Smith will be ensconced on a float with "18 dazzling dollies" on Sunday, May 23.

It's all a part of the third "Good Times" parade planned for the streets of Pleasanton.

Parade entries coordinator Isabelle Lemon of Radio KNBR said a full limit of entries (225) is assured for the third annual hi-jinx, started in 1974 as the result of a bet between KNBR personalities Cleary and Frank Dill.

Beside the many comic and novelty groups, the lineup of bands will include the Golden Dons from Amador, Foothill's prize-winning Falcon band and the Donlon School band.

Novelty entries include the "PT 4077 Mash unit," a valley aggregation headed by someone identifying herself as "Hothips."

Other early group entries include the Sweet Adelines barbershop singing group, the Buckhorn Mountain School band from Novato, San Jose Laurettes (majorettes group), Miramonte High band, Balloon Platoon, Mount Eden High cheer leaders, KNBR Kazoo Band, Bagpipes Lenahan (who attends all KNBR functions), the Sullivan Celtic Drill Team from Fairfield, Hayward Chamber of Commerce Centennial Float, and the 65-foot long Modesto Ski Club float pulled by a Rolls Royce.

Tax filing deadline

Today is the deadline for Americans to file their 1975 income tax returns. The Federal Internal Revenue Service warns taxpayers to complete their forms and have them postmarked for mailing prior to midnight to avoid a penalty for late filing.

Fair aids Bicentennial parade

The County Fair Association Board of Directors formally agreed to help support the parade scheduled for Sunday, June 27 through the streets of Pleasanton at a meeting held Tuesday night.

Now sponsored by the Pleasanton Bicentennial Committee, the parade will also be underwritten by the City of Pleasanton. The Fair Association will provide $2,500.

In business concerning buildings and grounds, directors reviewed plans for the theatre walk area, plans and cost estimates for additional pari-mutuel machines, painting of the Exhibit Hall (in earth tones to complement the Young California Building, and heard a progress report on undergrounding of utility lines beneath Palm Way (the main entry way) and extension of the drop-off area on Pleasanton Avenue.

Directors also learned that a wayward driver had mowed down 60-feet of fence surrounding the Amphitheatre after first going through an outside fence. The car came to rest against the embankment of the Amphitheatre.

A 12-page report on a recent inspection of the grounds by City of Pleasanton Fire Marshal Ted Klenk was presented to the board.

Directors received a letter from the Castro Valley Mineral and Gem Society asking that a verbal commitment, allegedly made four years ago, be put in writing as the group wishes to utilize the Young California Building for a national mineral and gem show in 1978. The society was directed to contact the Board of Supervisors as the Fair's contract with the board expires in December of 1977.

Assistant Manager Pete Bailey said response to the new "Fair Reporter" publication had been very good. Three-hundred copies of the first issue were sent out and Bailey believes more will be needed when the second issue is published prior to Fair time in June.

Bailey said he hoped to issue a general press release each week on some aspect of Fairgrounds activities. A special "balloon loft" has been slated for opening day of the Fair and again on July 4. Five-hundred balloons will be lofted during opening ceremonies each day with some, possibly, to contain grounds admission tickets.

The board's concessions committee will meet April 20 to award bids for food concessions at this summer's fair. On April 29, the floriculture exhibitors will hold their annual dinner to plan exhibits, fill out entry forms and determine locations.

Fairgrounds Manager Lee Hall reported on the recent Western Fair Association district and California Horse Racing Board meetings, the issue of minors on race tracks, status of Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association (HBPA) negotiations and the quarterhorse racing secretary position Charley Palmer has held the job in past years.

Directors also acted to beef up security at entrances to the Fairgrounds and improve traffic flow as the result of a March 26 meeting with representatives of the Sheriff's Department, California Highway Patrol, Pleasanton Police and Fire Departments, Caltrans and the county traffic department.

Sign standoff on Mathews request

Ray Mathews' request for approval of sign variances for his Danville office complex, made before members of the San Ramon Valley Community Planning Committee Tuesday morning, resulted in a defensive word exchange between several local planners.

Ken Samuels, who is a member of the Commercial Development Committee, asked the planning members to defer a decision and requested the applicant to appear before his group.

"Our group," said Samuels, "has been struggling with a sign ordinance and, though it is not final yet, I ask you members to defer your decision and have the applicant appear before our Commercial Development Committee, next Wednesday morning."

Mathews had told the planning group he had spent one year working with the county to come up with an appropriate sign size. The county ordinance calls for a 10-foot square sign but Mathews contends his tenants need larger signs. He requested variances to place two 12-foot signs and two 18-foot signs at his office building, located at the corner of San Ramon Valley Boulevard and Podva Lane.

"To have you take action now will set a precedent," stated Samuels, "and all the others will come running for a redress through the use of variances."

Samuels claimed that any group of signs which exceed the county ordinance were "illegal," and that the only allowable sign was one 10-foot square.

"To make a decision is appropriate," retorted CPC chairman Eric Hasseltine. "We seem to have fallen into a confusion as to the committee responsibilities."

"A lot of people are milling around but there isn't much action," he added.

Hasseltine then suggested the three committees involved with the planning of downtown Danville, meet to establish an approach to solving the problems. The committees include commercial development, planning and rarely heard from, the Danville parking district authority advisory group.

"According to the county sign ordinance," said Samuels, "no sign on a 0-1 parcel shall be greater than 10 square feet." Hasseltine asked Samuels whether he objected to the signs or procedure.

"The procedure," Samuels replied, "involves three signs and they are illegal. He's getting a variance for the whole building."

Jim Crossan of the planning group complained that any kind of a retroactive sign ordinance which the commercial body develops "will break every merchant."

"That is a wild statement," Samuels said. "I'm not talking about the commercial area, but 0-1 zoning."

Sally Germaine made a motion to send Mathews' request to the commercial development committee. The deadlock 2 to 2 vote was broken when Hasseltine voted against the motion stating that it was not productive to have two groups working on planning. He stated planning is the responsibility of the CPC.

"We are not in a position where we can send everything back to the commercial development committee," added the chairman.

Preston Hunter then moved to approve the requested variance, adding, "let the county work out the problems." Again the vote was tied and again Hasseltine cast the deciding "no."

"We must have a meeting of the three groups," Hasseltine said, "and the applicant can come back in two weeks and in the meantime, he can see the commercial development committee."

Pony express rides again

A Bicentennial Pony Express race from Pleasanton to Alamo has been set for Sunday, June 20.

The race will begin at 2 p.m. at the office of the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce on Neal Street, and will feature a race between four competing teams: the San Ramon Valley Horsemen's Association, the Hayward Horsemen's Association, the Martinez Horsemen's Association and the Moraga Horsemen's Association.

A limited number of parchment sheets and envelopes have been designed and printed, and are available for purchase. For a dollar, valley residents can get one sheet of stationery and one envelope. The purchaser can write a letter and return it to the Horsemen's group, and that letter will be carried as part of the mail in the 20-mile pony express run on June 20.

To make participation by the public easier, the group will place a first class stamp on each envelope returned to them, addressed for mailing.

All letters will be cancelled at the Alamo Post Office which will be open especially for the event.

Stationery can be ordered by calling San Ramon Valley Horsemen's Association president Bryan Hodges at 837-7562.

Sponsors of the Bicentennial Pony Express race include Jon Newberry of Shamrock Ford in Dublin, Banquet Foods Corporation, International Paper, Container Div. of San Jose and Shafter Hay and Cube of Shafter, Calif.

Pleasanton woman has psychic ability

By LILLY AULT

The tape begins, "Feb. 28, — Lilly, I want to find a word that will link me with you. 'Care-free' is the word," the voice on the tape continues to say "I have a feeling of a young girl who believed that life ought to be carefree, not that your life has been carefree, but that you have always believed life ought to be and have tried very hard to make it so as much as possible."

These words came from a young lady who had never seen me nor spoken with me, not even over the telephone. The tape goes on, but the beginning caught my interest, perhaps with a little shock as I immediately recalled a teacher in high school who had signed my year book by saying, "Lilly, life should be a joy to you if you keep your carefree way!" To make sure my memory served me correctly, I checked the book and there it was!

This was only one of the many instances not only of myself, but my entire family that Dee Lillegard of Pleasanton was able to "psych" in on.

It was through a friend of mind that Dee heard of me. One day she called my friend and said she wanted to make a tape on me as she was having strong feelings about me and wanted to know, "would I mind."

I gave my okay. My name and birthdate only were given to Dee. From there she amazed me and the family, of the many characteristics, information and happenings she touched upon in my life as well as my husband's, son's and daughter's life. Some of the information about myself perhaps I'd rather not hear, yet, none the less I had to be honest and say, "yes, that's me."

Dee's psychic abilities, although she was not aware of it, began when she was a young child. She had many "out of the body experiences," as they are called, or "clairvoyant" experiences which she could not share with her parents. Because she did not nor her parents understand her psychic abilities, Dee tried to suppress it.

It was Dee's husband who realized her psychic ability and encouraged her to develop it. He also realized, as Dee did by then, that until she learned how to develop it, it was going to be a disruptive element in her life.

Dee thinks everyone has had "hunches and intuitions" and that they have had at least one striking psychic experience in their lives even though they may not want to talk about it.

In explaining the difference between a psychic and ordinary people, Dee says, "it is only a matter of degree. To say everyone is psychic is about as meaningful as to say that everyone is musical." She goes on to explain this by saying, "that just as there are different kinds of musical ability and different degrees of musical talent, there are different kinds of psychic ability and different degree of psychic talent."

We have people who are born to sing at the Met," says Dee, "and people who are born to sing in the shower."

Dee is "clairvoyant" which means she has the ability to see things that cannot be seen with the ordinary vision and "clairvoyant" which lets her hear things that cannot normally be heard by the ears.

She also tends to receive telepathic messages very easily. This lead Dee to be perplexed for awhile as she was confused as to the type of experience she was having.

"A person can send you a message by means of telepathy," Dee explained, "and if you give that person his own message back," she said, "you are not really giving him anything."

Through the study of her dreams for the last 10 years, Dee is learning a lot about herself as a psychic and as a whole person. This close study of her dreams has made Dee realize how much knowledge about the future the unconscious contains.

By analyzing her dream patterns, Dee has become to see how very specific, detailed happenings have been dreamed at specific intervals before their occurrence.

Her dreams do not always deal just with herself or family. "I have dreamed about many people even before I have met them," says Dee. "I do not feel I am the only person who is dreaming the future," she remarked. "I have studied my children's dreams and find they are also dreaming of the future."

Dee believes that the unconscious mind participates in the past, present and the future without any real distinction. "The mind is not limited in space and time the way our bodies are," Dee explains. "It is just as easy to go into the future as it is to go into the past psychically. You can travel to any point in time or to any place no matter where or how far it is and bring back information psychically. It would be impossible," she says, "to do physically what the mind can do psychically."

It is Dee's feeling that no one can explain how this works. "What we need to know, she says, "is the nature of time itself and a great deal more about man's consciousness and the dimensions of life that don't meet the eye."

This petite psychic has studied handwriting, numerology and astrology and feel they can all be exceedingly accurate in the right hands. However, her experience is that these are "tools" which can get in the way of certain types of psychic functioning.

Dee goes on to state that if these "tools" get into the hands of someone not fully developed in the very fine art of interpretation they can be misleading. Realizing this, Dee decided to set aside "all these tools and crutches" and try to work with whatever psychic ability she might have and simple faith.

Basically, Dee's approach is that she will ask for the name and birthdate of a person who is usually a complete stranger to her. In some instances she may get a few questions, but she will generally want inquiries which are not revealing. Simple questions such as, "tell me about my career" are what she prefers.

From here she sits in a comfortable chair with a tape recorder on her lap and a microphone in her hand and begins to speak about the person who is a total stranger to her. She does not use the birthdate for any calculations. It is there to help her concentrate.

Once she begins to concentrate, she feels the information coming from the back of her head. Almost immediately, she says she begins to see pictures and receiving impressions and may hear words, phrases or statements concerning the person she is concentrating on. She begins to expound on this person without realizing what she is talking about. She may speak anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour, depending upon what she is getting. An entire tape can mean nothing to Dee, but to the person it may have great meaning or identity.

Although this technique has improved Dee's accuracy she says, "I don't know why or how, but I have been able to help some people with these psychic tapes. The best part," she goes on to state, "I seem to be able to answer their inner most questions, questions that have not even been asked."

People fear that psychics know or will know all about them. "It isn't true," she says, "because the way information comes to us makes no sense at all. It only makes sense to the person it concerns."

This young mother of three goes on to say that "one of the most difficult things about being psychic is you can't work with people very close to you. It is very hard to help those you care about the most," she says, "as you tend to know too much about them. It's much easier working with strangers."

"Timing" is another difficult situation that confronts the psychic because the mind is able to see the past, present and future, yet the psychic does not know where she is in time. The person may have to wait as much as five years for a particular thing to happen. Therefore psychic are often looked upon as being wrong. "Sometimes something may happen the next day, week or year," says Dee, "and it is as surprising to me as it is to the person."

Dee has a multitude of tapes and records she has kept on her dreams over the years so that when a particular instance happens she can go back and check. Not just to be able to say, "I told you so," but to see how her ability has worked for a particular circumstance. This would be for her own piece of mind, as according to Dee, "being a psychic is not easy."

Further more, Dee will not attempt to explain how she has this ability. She feels although some psychics will attempt to give a "spiritual" or "religious" interpretation as to what they are doing, it is not an "explanation" of how it works or the answer to the question, "where did it come from?"

It is Dee's thinking that all things that happen to us are registered in the Cosmos and that it is available to be drawn upon when there is a need.

Dee feels there is a "heavy responsibility" that goes with being a psychic and that its remedy is to help or to further a cause of some kind, not for play or curiosity.

Although she has never received pay for any of her work nor does she want to, at this time, she does not feel it is wrong providing a person is doing a "good job."

Presently Dee is a writer and has gone into the psychic phase to strengthen herself as well as others.

According to Dee, this psychic ability, to people who know the Bible, can be looked upon as a "spiritual gift" spoken of in First Corinthians, Chapter 12.

"There are a diversity of gifts," says Dee, "but they come from one spirit. I think that man is of one spirit and as we get below consciousness that we all tend to flow together as one."

Dee Lillegard concentrates on making a psychic tape.

Don't boil Easter eggs

Easter eggs should not be boiled!

That may come as news to some who are getting ready for the annual decorating carnival, but home economists at United States Stamping Company point out that eggs should be simmered gently over low heat for about 20 minutes.

After cooking, pour off the hot water and fill the pan with cold water so that the shells will peel off easily when the eggs are ready to be eaten.

A major manufacturer of ceramic on steel cookware, U.S. Stamping suggests a clever egg decorating idea. With a little construction paper, cotton and glue, it's easy to turn a decorated egg into an Easter Bunny.

BART express scheduled

OAKLAND — As part of an overall test program to increase transit service throughout the system, BART will begin a limited, direct Daly City - Richmond run on Monday, April 19.

A special train will leave Richmond at 5 a.m., make the run to Daly City, and prepare for direct service to Richmond Station.

The special train will run on a direct route between Daly City and Richmond Stations with no transfer necessary in Oakland.

In the afternoon the direct service train will leave Richmond Station at about 3:45 p.m., and run the direct, no-transfer route to Daly City Station, arriving at approximately 4:40 p.m.

The train will then make its final trip of the day, leaving Daly City at approximately 4:40 p.m.

This last evening run to the East Bay will arrive at Montgomery Street Station around 5 p.m., offering downtown San Francisco commuters the opportunity to travel a direct route to Richmond and all stations along that line.

A BART spokesperson said the service is being initiated on a trial basis and will continue as long as it proves "technically practical and provides a meaningful service to our passengers."

The new service is scheduled to run every morning and evening at specified times, but BART cautioned that unusual circumstances could delay the train on any given day. Passengers should listen for station and train announcements to make sure they are boarding the special direct route train.

Landscaping bids invited

PLEASANTON — The city is taking bids from contractors for construction of landscape improvements in the Val Vista Park tot lot and picnic area.

Sealed proposals will be received at city hall, 200 Bernal Ave., until 2 p.m., May 6.

No beef winner

Pat Pallitto, winner of the beef raffle held by the Livermore High School Marching Band this past month, receives congratulations of Pauline Stahl, the band student who sold him the ticket. In lieu of the beef, Pallitto accepted the cash value and donated $50 back to the band. Money raised by the raffle will go toward band activities, including a trip to Disneyland at the end of May. Main St. banners win city support

PLEASANTON — There is a delicate art of compromise in mounting those temporary banners across Main Street, the city council learned Monday.

The banners, such things as the Bicentennial Heritage Festival and the Pleasanton Art League's Golden Jubilee Faire, are hung below the famed Pleasanton neon sign across Main Street in front of the police station.

Council members mentioned the fact that the temporary banners sometimes rip in a high wind and then sag.

City Manager Bill Edgar sympathized with the notion of wanting to keep the banners high, but pointed out the problems. If the signs are secured too tightly to the Pleasanton sign, a passing truck could take not only the temporary sign but also the Pleasanton sign with it, said Edgar.

In a high wind, metal grommets on the temporary sign can lash against the neon filaments of the Pleasanton sign and the damage can run as high as $200.

To the rescue came the city's new Hi-Ranger.

Assistant City Manager said that this motorized high chair can elevate a city employee to tree-top level (it's used for tree-trimming) and a worker in the Hi-Ranger should be able to fasten the temporary signs tighter from now on — but not too tight.

With that in mind, the council unanimously approved temporary banners for the Bicentennial Heritage Festival and the art league's Golden Jubilee Faire over the good-humored objections of City Manager Bill Edgar. Edgar said he offered the "usual staff comments" that there are considerations about aesthetics and safety and noted "you (council) traditionally overrule them (the traditional staff comments). They did."

Seniors' health van to operate

A mobile health van for senior citizens in Southern Alameda County was dedicated April 9 at the Fairmont Hospital in San Leandro.

The Health Care Van Project is designed to serve the health needs of senior citizens where they gather at senior centers. It is a joint effort between county agencies.

The van is staffed with a public nurse, registered nurse, medical social worker, health services aide, medical clerk and volunteers.

The mobile home van which will travel throughout South County is funded by a $129,004 grant from the federal Office on Aging through Title III of the Older Americans Act.

The county's Area Agency has signed a one-year operational contract with the Health Care Services Agency. One group will supply technical assistance and money; the other provides staffing and administration.

Screening and services provided on the van include height and weight, nutrition and general counseling, and tests for diabetes, hypertension, glaucoma, heart and lung disorders.

For information on the van and its schedule, call 577-1287.

Ex-school official Gatti solves attendance drop woes

A former Amador-Pleasanton schools superintendent has at least temporarily succeeded in counteracting the effects of controversial SB 90 and the nationwide problem of dwindling enrollments.

Rudy Gatti, who left the helm in Pleasanton to take the superintendent's position of the much larger Santa Clara Unified School District, told The Times Wednesday the district trimmed $1.5 million from its budget and closed four schools last year. The latter included three elementary schools and one junior high. Gatti believes the actions saved $400,000.

Innovator of the participative management concept in the Amador-Pleasanton school districts, Gatti says projections show the Santa Clara district will continue to lose students through the 1982-83 school year. The combination grade and high school district has a total enrollment of 20,000.

He indicated that the newly opened amusement park, Great America, could eventually have a significant effect on tax monies coming into the community. Gatti is definitely set to return for his third year as superintendent in 1976-77. A rumor afloat in the Pleasanton area had Gatti leaving Santa Clara for an executive post with the Association of California School Administrators.

Gatti admitted he had been approached earlier in the year by an executive of an educational consulting firm in Southern California to open and direct a branch office in the Bay Area. But Gatti said he felt their were several major projects in the Santa Clara district that he had to see through to completion.

He noted, however, that a Santa Clara district public information officer, Lou Armstrong, was leaving that post for a similar job with ACSA.

Pleasanton citizens show concern with heritage trees' preservation

PLEASANTON — Four residents have appealed to the city council over the city manager's negative declaration which states an Environmental Impact Report is not needed in locating the Presbyterian Community Church at 4300 Mirador Drive.

Brian and Christine Bourg, 4512 Second St., and Fred and Bonnie Krickbaum, 303 Neal St., filed the appeal April 11 with the city planning department. The item has been scheduled for a public hearing before the city council April 26.

The residents said in the appeal they are concerned with heritage trees at the Mirador Drive site and with the higher amount of traffic which would be expected on Neal Street.

Classified help votes for CSEA

Classified school employees in three valley school districts are in the vanguard of employee groups naming the California School Employees Association their choice as exclusive bargaining agent for collective bargaining purposes.

The latest employee groups to select CSEA include those in Pleasanton Joint School District and Amador Valley Joint High School District, with 70 per cent for CSEA, and Castro Valley Unified, with 89 per cent.

Earlier, Murray School District classified employees signed petitions naming CSEA as their bargaining agent.

April 1 was the first day for filing representation petitions under the new law and CSEA announced it had completed petitions in 363 districts statewide. Some 53,549 of the employees (83.6 per cent) in those districts had signed choosing CSEA.

CSEA spokesmen said petitions for most of the state's remaining 693 districts "were nearing completion and will be filed shortly."

Classified employees staff the schools' key support systems and include the bus drivers, clerical and accounting workers, grounds, maintenance, custodial and operations employees, cafeteria workers and instructional aides.

An Amador-Pleasanton school district official, Mike Ananos, who directs buildings and grounds and transportation operations for those districts, will be installed as president of the California Association of School Transportation Officials later this month.

Earlier this month, Murray classified employees presented their salary and benefits proposal to the district administration.

District projection

Adult school enrollment up 1,500

Total enrollees in Amador Adult Education courses is projected to increase by 1,500 over 1974-75 before the current school year is out.

In a recent report to the Amador Joint High School

District board, adult education director Mike Connolly said the enrollment to date totals 3,566 and it is expected to rise to 5,300 when spring students are added-in.

The average daily attendance (ADA) is estimated to rise from a present 209 students to 290 for the 1975-76 school year.

A further indication of the program's ever-increasing draw is reflected in a comparison of total enrollments (yearly/cards) between 1973-74 and present.

Total enrollment for 1973-74 was 4,498. It is now 4,872 and projected to hit 6,800 by the end of the current school year.

More than three-fourths of current Amador Adult Education students are female. A breakdown shows 2,289 are females over 21, 420 females under 21, 671 males over 21 and 186 males under 21.

With the growing number of students goes a corresponding increase in teachers. Adult Education had 43 in 1973-74 and has 63 at present.

The number of subjects offered and class sections convened has also risen dramatically. The figures for 1973-74 were 43 and 54, respectively, and now stand at 71 and 108.

Connolly projects issuance of 13 diplomas, 10 business certificates and 16 citizenship certificates by the end of the current school year.

The figures were 9, 9 and 4, respectively, two years ago.

Classrooms at Amador

Valley High School continue to house the greatest number of adult students. In 1973-74, 2,328 attended classes at Amador, 1,760 at Dublin, 281 at Camp Parks, 48 at Pleasanton United Presbyterian, 43 at Pleasanton Convalescent Home, and 22 at Highland Oaks Recreation Center.

The current breakdown shows 2,364 at Amador, 1,138 Dublin, 830 Camp Parks, 154 Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center, 152 Pleasanton Convalescent Home, 102 Pleasanton United Presbyterian and between 21 and 38 at CURA (Camp Parks), Komandorski Village, Federal Youth Center, and Harvest Park School.

Amador expands placement role

PLEASANTON — Principal Ralph Laird at Amador Valley High School has announced plans for the school to expand its participation in the national Advanced Placement Program (APP) sponsored by the College Entrance Examination Board.

The Advanced Placement Program offers students an opportunity to pursue college level study while in high school and to receive advanced placement and credit upon entering college.

Amador Valley High School is one of 4,000 other high schools and 1,700 colleges which cooperate together to serve thousands of high school students with special abilities and interests.

"By introducing Advanced Placement we will be providing our students with a challenging learning experience, and, at the same time, offering them an opportunity to obtain advanced placement and credit at some 1,700 participating colleges and universities. In doing this," Laird noted, "We are bringing together able and ambitious students with able and ambitious teachers in a planned and systematic way, upgrading our curriculum, and encouraging improved teaching methods."

During the week of May 17-21, Amador Valley High School will give advanced placement examination to about 10 students. According to the College Board, some 67,000 students across the country took AP examinations last year. Students who earned the required grades on an AP exam could have received the equivalent of 6-8 semester hours or 10-12 quarter hours of credit, and saved up to $1,000. If any of these students were granted a full year of college credit, they could have saved from $2,000 to $6,000.

Students like Advanced Placement, contends

Laird, "not only because it saves them time and money on a college career, but also because it provides them with an opportunity to move at their own academic pace and to be intellectually challenged by their studies."

Among the comments received by the College Board about APP are the following:

"I think too many seniors in high school, especially intelligent or above average seniors, fail to study any more than absolutely necessary because they either think they are already too intelligent to require it, that they can bull their way through, or that since they have done so well up to the senior year, that they can afford to slide. An Advanced Placement course makes you work, makes you prepare yourself, because college is a whole new world where you learn how very little you do know!"

Information on the Advanced Placement Program at Amador Valley High School is available from the counseling office.

Problem solving fair scheduled

The annual Murray School District Problem Solving Fair will be held April 28-29 at Frederiksen School's multi-purpose Room in Dublin.

Students may enter projects in the areas of mathematics, science, creative arts, and social sciences. Parents are encouraged to have their children enter this fair if they have an interest and/or an unusual hobby or collection.

Projects should be completed by April 21 so they may be displayed at Cronin School's open house on April 22.

They'll make it 'Aesthetically compatible'

Architects for the multi-service center planned to be built with federal monies at the Civic Center site hope to make The Barn on Pacific Avenue "aesthetically and functionally compatible" with the new structure by improving The Barn's facade and designing a portion of it to serve as a trellis. The site selection committee for the multi-service center has designated as its first location site choice the area immediately in front of The Barn which could be linked to The Barn by a covered walkway. The second site choice is the area to the east of The Barn on Pacific Avenue.

They can learn while being paid

District offers secretarial course

Alameda County residents are being invited to enroll in a free clerical/secretarial training course at the New Haven Unified School District in Union City.

Students are paid while they're in the program.

All county residents, except in Oakland and Berkeley, are eligible if they are unemployed or underemployed and need to learn a skill, or have an income below the poverty level.

They must have at least an eighth grade ability to communicate in English and Spanish and must be at least 18 years old.

The students will receive basic and vocational education to help them gain employment in clerical or secretarial jobs. These could include occupations as bilingual secretary or clerk typist and similar jobs.

Trainees attend class six hours daily each week.

The program is open for enrollment at any time, since trainees graduate when they are ready for employment.

Border Patrol Agents of the Livermore Sector covering 49 counties in Northern California arrested 5,095 illegal aliens during March, Chief Agent Herbert E. Walsh announced yesterday.

Of this number, 60 were receiving welfare or other public assistance.

Agents of the Livermore station, covering 11 counties including Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, arrested 180 illegal aliens in March. Of that number, 118 or 66 per cent were employed at the time of arrest.

inside the arts

Colorful and varied examples of art work created by Livermore Kindergarten through eighth grade students cheerfully greets citizens as they make their way through town during April, which has been proclaimed Youth Art Month.

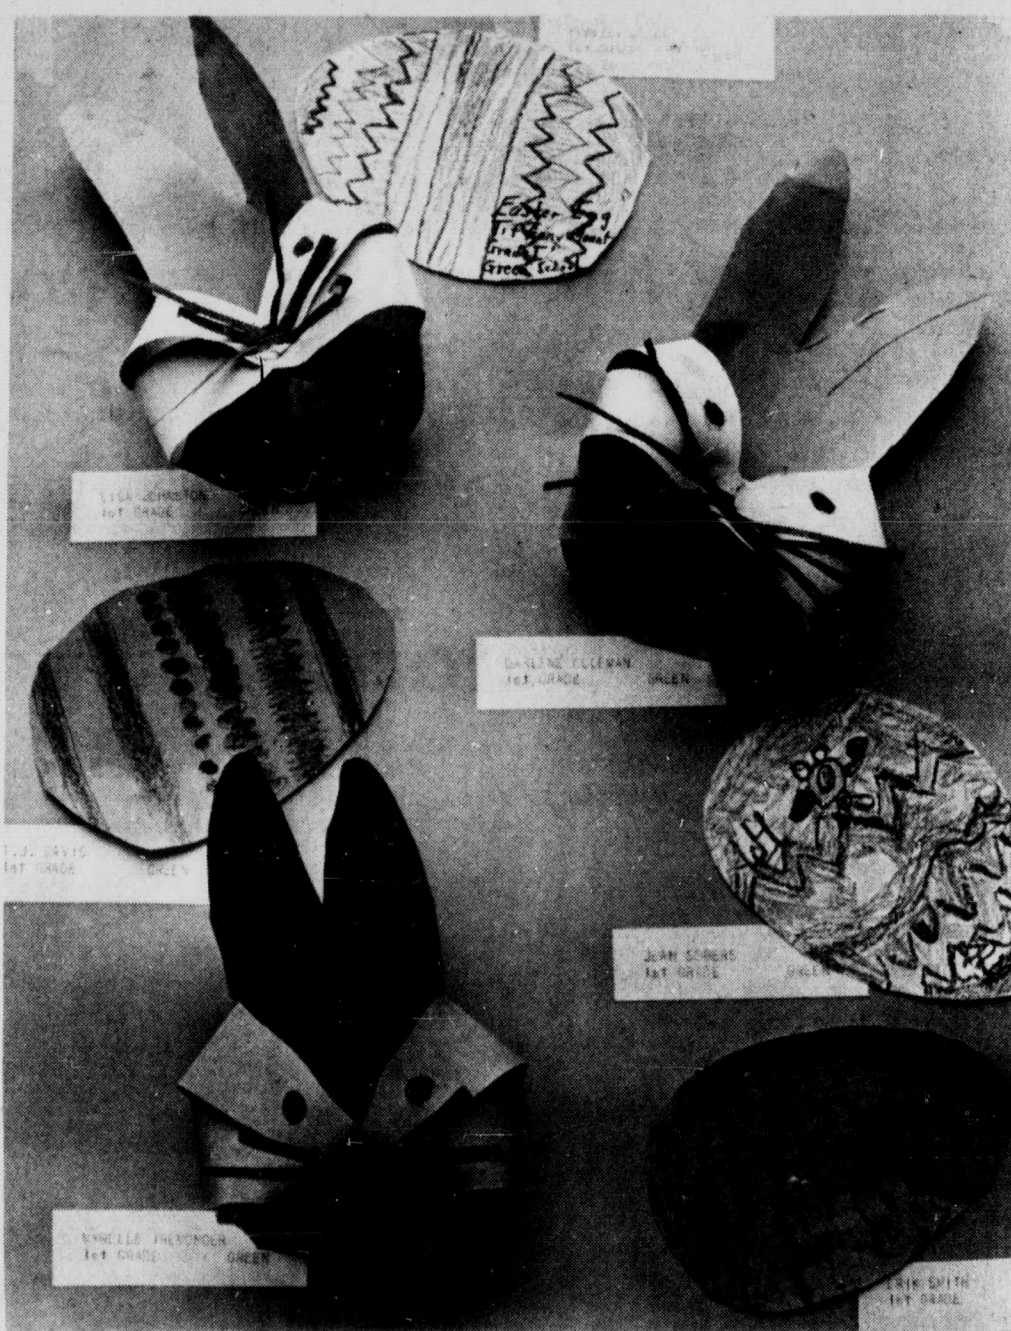

In a third annual event co-sponsored by the Livermore Cultural Arts Council and the Livermore Unified School District, some 560 pieces of art work by more than 500 students from 16 schools is displayed at various locations in Livermore — State Savings and Loan Association on Stanley Boulevard; Bank of America and Crocker National Bank on Second Street; Security Pacific National Bank on S. P Street; Frederick and Charles Beauty College, Don Plummer Chevrolet and United Californ Bank on First Street; Livermore School District Office on Rincon Avenue; Livermore Library on S. Livermore Avenue, and the Livermore Art Association Gallery in the Carnegie Building on Third Street.

"Youth is a time to develop interests, skills and aptitudes that will last a lifetime," Mayor Helen Tirsell's proclamation of April as Youth Art Month notes. "Through meaningful art activities children develop initiative, self-expression, creative ability, self-evaluation, discipline and a heightened appreciation of beauty."

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Neither you nor your mate should make any major expenditures today without talking it over first. Lack of accord could cause trouble.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)

Don't take an unyielding position on a minor issue, as it could be blown out of proportion. Keep things in perspective.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)

If you're starting a new project at this time be sure it's one you're going to follow through on before laying out cash in advance.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)

Try not to talk out of turn today to one friend about another you both know. What you say could later haunt you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)

Be philosophical about today's happenings, or petty grievances will darken your outlook and spoil your entire day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)

It wouldn't be too wise to offer advice to friends who haven't solicited it. Even if they do, be careful what you say.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

In your material dealings today don't go in with blinders on. You might be facing some sharp horse traders. Stay on your toes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)

Decisions having a direct effect upon you should not be left exclusively in the hands of another today. Think for yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)

You could create a problem for yourself today if you let a friend talk you into assuming her responsibilities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)

Your pals will feel as strongly about their views as you do about yours today. Skirt topics that could cause dissension.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)

Set definite goals for yourself today. If you don't specify your priorities, you're likely to drift far afield.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)

Don't let someone whose judgment cannot be relied upon advise you how to spend your money today.

Old man Z who used to appear in the auction bridge columns played dummy's king of hearts. East discarded to 10 of clubs and Z remarked, "I believe R. F. Foster thought of this hand back around 1922. It is a ruff and discard hand to end all such."

Then Z overtook dummy's king of hearts with his ace, cashed two trumps and both minor suit aces. His next play was a low heart. West had to win the trick and play another heart.

Bat miseries for Grizzlies, 3-0

FREMONT — California High School, plagued by tired pitchers, paid for its current batting slump with a 3-0 loss to Mt. Eden yesterday afternoon in the semi-finals of the Mission Valley Baseball Tournament at Kennedy High School.

In three tourney games, the Grizzlies have collected just 10 hits, getting just three yesterday off Monarch pitcher Alan Regier. Mt. Eden's ace with a 3-0 record and the second best ERA in the Hayward Area Athletic League.

Chuck Cary, who had two singles, and brother Bret were the only Cal hitters to dent Regier's offerings.

With the Cary brothers still recovering from winning performances the last two days, Cal was forced to go with unpolished pitching, but may have discovered a diamond in the rough in the process.

Larry Walters, who relieved starter Mike Daugherty with a sliding fast ball thrown from a variety of motions, pitched three scoreless innings, giving up three hits and a walk while striking out two.

"He pitched about half our games last season," said co-coach Bob Benatar, "but he asked not to pitch this year."

However, Walters, who admitted that pitching had affected his concentration on other areas of the game, agreed to a return to the mound when approached recently by the Grizzly coaching staff.

"Pitching is one area where I think the choice should be up to the kids," Benatar said, adding that Walters will not be saved for emergencies such as the four - games - in - as - many - days Mission tourney, but will become an integral part of the Cal bullpen.

Daugherty, who gave up all the Monarch runs, nonetheless came in for praise from Benatar.

"Mike pitched well. They hit him, but we had errors behind him that really hurt," he said.

Both Benatar and colleague Ed Noble believe the tournament has been a positive experience for the 11th-ranked Grizzlies, who surprised EBAL opponents by jumping to an early season lead.

"I'm disappointed with the loss," said Noble, "but not with the kids."

"We showed that we can hang in a tough game," Benatar added. "Mt. Eden had 18 runs in the first two games and we held them to three."

The pair admit that the Grizzlies strong tourney showing, coupled with their EBAL success, has been a true Cinderella story.

"At the start of the season, we just wanted to stay close in each game, never mind win any," said Benatar. "Now we think we'll stay in contention."

Pitcher Regier singled, stole and scored in the second inning while a single and stolen base by fleet lead-off hitter Sterling Stribley, a base - on - error and steal by Ed Chock, a double by Rob Jensen and a single by Gary Leverenz accounted for the Monarchs other two runs in the third.

Chillemi's easy 80 wins by 11 shots at Group Fore

WINNER REFLECTS ON ACCOMPLISHMENTS
Connie Chillemi marched to Castlewood title

Connie Chillemi is supposed to be 30-years longer, and about that much straighter than any golfer in her class. In other words, she's 11 shots ahead of the field.

That's how it turned out yesterday, anyway, in the final round of the Group Fore Ping Classic at Castlewood Country Club.

Eighteen-year old Connie made a shambles of the fourth stop on America's only pro mini - tour for women. She waltzed through a beautiful spring afternoon on Castlewood's par-74 hill course, shooting a six-over 80. That was still sufficient to leave 15 other young pro hopefuls back in Oakland, or Milpitas, or wherever it was Group Fore set up shop last week.

For posting rounds of 72-79-80, Connie picked up the first place check of $425. It wasn't even enough to purchase a plane ticket back home to Orlando, Fla. But it should keep her in golf gloves right up until the end of summer, when she'll attend the Ladies Professional Golf Association school for the second straight year. Connie missed qualifying for the ladies tour by two strokes last summer.

If her play of the last three days is an indicator, she'll make it this time. Connie posted a remarkable 79 Tuesday at Castlewood in monsoon conditions. That put her 10 shots ahead of JoAnn Avard, so if she slacked off yesterday — it was understandable. What was there to play for?

Well, maybe the $25 prize for the day's low round, which went to Donna Adwell of Broken Arrow, Okla. She fired a one-over par 75. Donna's round was good for a 54-hole total of 242 and second place money amounting to $300. Rosie Bartlett from Little Rock, Ark. finished third at 243.

Chillemi, who leads the Group Fore tour to Rancho Canada in Carmel next week, started yesterday's round with a double - bogey six. She had just one birdie, on the par - five 463-yard seventh hole.

Adwell birdied four holes, but also took double bogey on the 405-yard par four first hole.

Amador wins tourney finale

SAN LORENZO — Amador Valley High pitcher Mike Garrigan got a four-run first inning from his teammates and had little trouble disposing of Marina, 5-1, yesterday with a fine three-hitter at the Veri Thornock Baseball Tournament.

In other action, Foothill suffered its third straight tourney defeat, 5-2 to Tennyson. Garrigan was only in trouble in the first inning where the Titans collected two of their three hits, and again in the third, when Marina scored its only run. It was an unearned.

Meanwhile, the Dons pounded Ross Carriere of Marina for nine hits, four in the first inning.

"We lost the wrong game," said Amador coach Don Bush walking towards the Amador bus for the final time in this tournament. "If we had won yesterday we would still be playing another game. Still, this is good for the kids."

Asked about standouts in the three-day tournament, Bush singled out Dan Straface, Jeff Terry and Mike Johnson.

"Jeff and Dan hit the ball well," said Bush; "and Mike played a super shortstop." Johnson missed yesterday's contest because of a bout with the flu.

As for Terry, his scoring achievements were impressive. In the three tournament games Amador scored 13 runs. Terry accounted for eight of those runs, scoring four runs and driving in another four. Amador jumped on Carriere in the first inning. After Garrigan grounded out, Straface singled. Terry forced him at second base, but Mark Bevilacqua, Mike Connolly and Rob Wicks all followed with base hits, and with an error scoring Wicks, Garrigan had his four-run cushion.

Marina scored its only run in the third inning. Frank Pauselius doubled then Jim Adams hit a hard grounder to Bob Koopman at third base. Koopman attempted to run - down Pauselius who headed back to second base. The throw sailed over the second baseman, however, and into right field, allowing Pauselius to score.

Amador picked up another run in the seventh after Koopman reached base on an error. He moved to second on a wild pickoff attempt, and reached third on a passed ball Garrigan then singled to score Koopman.

Only one EBAL team is left in the tournament, San Ramon High. The Wolves face Oakland this morning at 11:30.

Cal High group holds raffle

SAN RAMON — California High School's scholarship committee is sponsoring a raffle for a Las Vegas weekend including air fare, hotel and lodging.

The drawing will take place at California High's open house on April 29. You need not be present to win. All proceeds go to support the California High Scholarship Fund which will award scholarships to students planning further education, whether it be two-year, four-year or trade school.

The committee will interview candidates and announce the awards at graduation. Scholarship applications are available from the counseling center.

Raffle tickets are available from the California Scholarship Federation students and all faculty members.

Taxpayers overlook new credit

A new regulation allowing a direct $30 federal income tax credit for each household member is being overlooked by many taxpayers, according to a leading tax preparation service.

The provision, according to C.I.T. Financial Services, allows taxpayers to deduct $30 for each member of the family unit covered by the return. The computation, which is easily missed, appears on line "16b" of the standard form 1040 and reduces the tax owed dollar for dollar.

This makes the savings afforded by the credit a substantial one. A family of four with a qualified in-law living in the household would have a $150 credit. If the tax owed was originally $750, C.I.T. stressed, it would be $600 after figuring in the credit.

The company, which offers tax preparation services in 39 states, points out that only one exemption per individual can be used in computing the credit.
